We offer 24/7 help for many subjects and availability can be customized according to your needs and the needs of your students.

Many students, especially working adults, need homework help at all hours of the day and night, especially when the on-campus tutoring center is closed. The NetTutor Online Tutoring Service can accommodate students' busy schedules and complement on-campus student support services by offering live tutoring around the clock. We offer 24/7 live tutoring in many subjects, including all levels of mathematics. We also offer extensive coverage in the sciences and 24/7 writing support. Because we want NetTutor to be a supplement to your courses and on-ground support services, tutor availability in all subjects can be customized according to your needs and the needs of your students. For instance, if you want nursing tutoring available at midnight, we will make it happen.

Quality tutoring is maintained from our Tampa, Florida headquarters.

Quality tutoring that addresses the learner's needs is most important. All NetTutor tutors work from our tutoring center in Tampa, Florida under the guidance and supervision of the tutoring director. Because the tutoring management and staff are centralized, we can maintain quality and oversight that is conducive to successful learning for your students. Having tutors work from a single location ensures a collaborative, academic, and professional environment, which is reflected in the tutors' interaction with your students. In addition, tutors have access to a library of textbooks, course syllabi and other learning materials, so they can use the same materials as your students and know exactly how to help them.

We develop a Rules of Engagement (ROE) in which you, the client, specify how tutors will interact with your students.

You and your team of academic professionals know more about your student body than we can. Our learning specialists work with each client to develop a customizable, living document—Rules of Engagement (ROE)—for each tutoring subject, which tells us how you want our tutors to interact with your students. Some ROEs might be specific and lengthy, while others may be short but just as precise.

We guarantee fair, competitive pricing and no hidden fees.

Tutoring is priced by the hour, and our rates are competitive. Our clients only pay for the actual time students spend engaged with a tutor, and time is rounded to the nearest minute. Time is not deducted from an account if a student has to wait for a tutor or is viewing archived sessions, and there are no hidden fees or extra costs to you.
